Call for Papers

1. About the Journal:

Studies of Translation and Interpretation is published by the Taiwan Association of Translation and Interpretation. 2. Mission and Scope:

We are an open-access journal that welcomes submissions on a rolling basis. Articles we accept include: original research and translation/book reviews. While our volume is not thematic, we would like to especially encourage submissions that challenge or subvert conventional thinking on the theory, practice, and pedagogy of translation and interpretation. We thus look forward to submissions that demonstrate bold and provocative alternatives—new concepts and different framings—that instigate change in how we valorize, evaluate, and teach the processes and products of translation and interpretation.
