

Fu Jen Journal of Foreign Languages

Linguistics, Literature, & Culture

vol. 24 (FJFL 2025) Call for Papers

Feature Topic Section

Transitions, Interdisciplinary Approaches, and Innovation in Foreign Language Education

We warmly welcome submissions on foreign language education in this dynamic era, focusing on teaching philosophies, methods, and materials that support interdisciplinary integration, seamless transition, continuous transformation, and innovation.

Possible issues include

- 1. Teaching Philosophies: What teaching philosophies address challenges in this era of change? How can students be guided to transition smoothly into various learning environments?
- 2. Teaching Models: How can foundational language instruction, online teaching, AI-assisted instruction, international collaboration, and self-directed learning be solidified, innovated, and evaluated for effectiveness?
- 3. Innovative Materials and Methods: How can materials be selected to cultivate diverse student competencies?
- 4. Technology and Foreign Language Education: How can mobile devices, tablets, programming, data analysis, marketing skills, and other interdisciplinary knowledge be integrated? How can generative AI, like ChatGPT, support cross-disciplinary learning?
- 5. University Social Responsibility (USR) and Social Integration: How can institutions engage with society to fulfill the goals of global sustainable development (SDGs)?

Submission Format: APA 7th Edition

Languages: Submissions for feature topic may be in Chinese or English.

Submission deadline : February 28, 2025

Publication date : July 31, 2025

Contact Editorial Assistant: Scarlett Hung-chen LU FAX: 02-2905-2174 E-MAIL: fujenstudies@gmail.com

For more information about submission guidelines, formatting requirements, and formatting details, please visit "Academic Research" on CFLL website

www.cfl.fju.edu.tw

College of Foreign Languages and Literatures (CFL) Fu Jen Catholic University